REGION

Thracian Lowlands is one of the largest wine regions of Bulgaria, located along the country's border with Greece and Turkey. The proximity of the region to the lower reaches of the Maritsa River makes it perfect for viticulture. The terrain of the Thracian Lowlands is incredibly diverse and excellent for the growth of grapes. The Thracian Lowlands is one of the two PGI designations for Bulgaria wine.

VINIFICATION

The grapes in the cellar were destemmed and soft pressing to separate the solid part (skins and seeds) from the juice. The juice ferments at a low temperature (15° C to 18° C) to preserve the taste as much as possible. Fermentation takes an average of ten days.

TASTING NOTES

Pale lemon colour. Alluring nose – candied orange peel, exotic fruit – pineapple, pine resin, apple. Harmonious body with delicate minerality. Sweet finish.
